

Power of Inclusion; Circability's Youth Transition Model

Photo credit: Steven Allanson

We are Circability; a unique and award-winning Circus Arts organisation, improving lives through 'inclusion in action' reaching over 5,000 people a year.

Power of Inclusion; Circability's Youth Transition Pilot Kanohi kitea - to be seen - come together face to face Circability's youth transition programmes enable young people with disabilities to flex and showcase their strengths, giving them an opportunity to learn performing arts skills with the aim that they find work in the creative sector.

Central to our Power of Inclusion (POI) kaupapa is the direct involvement and leadership of our 14-25 year old participants in the development of the program which includes foundation, performer, teacher and 'on tour' courses.

For more information please contact Thomas on 021 209 8507
or thomas@circability.org

Visit us at: www.circability.org | Youtube channel: Circability Trust

Thomas Hinz, Creative Director, Circability:

"Thanks to our funding partners, people with disabilities are now finding work in the performing arts through our community circus training programmes. So far our circus tutors were offering programmes for people with disabilities, but we are now at an 'inclusive in action' next step where people with disabilities are confident enough, trained, and transitioning to start working in the field."

